With a proven track record and up-to-date knowledge of the industry, Clare is offering a mentoring programme suitable for writers who are now looking to take their career to the next level.

Clare is experienced giving constructive editorial feedback and has worked with publishers including Quarto, Little Tiger, Andersen, Macmillan and Nosy Crow on everything from fiction to narrative non-fiction, from poetic and lyrical texts to laugh out loud funny. She is the author of 16 picture books, either published or in press.

This mentoring package costs £650 and includes materials, five hours of 1:1 time [online], plus in-depth critiques on five texts or outlines. Whether these take place across five intensive weeks or a more leisurely five months is up to you but there's plenty of reading and tasks in between sessions. We'll work together to produce a final action plan to carry you forward.

To apply and to enquire about availability, please submit a picture book text to clare_welsh@hotmail.co.uk, plus a covering letter detailing what you hope to achieve through 1:1 mentoring.
